DETAILED ACTION

The numbering of claims is not in accordance with 37 CFR 1.126. Misnumbered claims 32-62 have been renumbered, starting with the second claim 32, in consecutive order from 33-66. The corrected numbering arrangement has been used herein for examination purposes.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-44, drawn to a construction module and arrangement, classified in class 52, subclass 796.1.
- II. Claims 45-66, drawn to a method of constructing a construction module and arrangement, classified in class 52, subclass 270.

The inventions are independent or distinct, each from the other because:

Inventions II and I are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make another and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case Invention I, a construction module and arrangement, can be made by another and materially different process such as with screws, nails, or a non-heat reactive adhesive not required by the process set forth in invention II. It is well known within the art of construction that the separate panels of Invention I could be fastened together via screws, nails, or a non-heat reactive adhesive.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper. Once applicant elects an invention for examination they are required to elect a species as outlines below.

Species Restriction

This application also contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

Species I - Figure 1

Species II – Figures 2a and 2b

The species are independent or distinct because Species I describes a first embodiment of the construction module with a cavity in only the intermediate panel. Species II describes a second embodiment of the construction module with a cavity in the intermediate layer including a transverse member. Species III describes another embodiment of the construction module with a cavity in both the top and bottom panel and a decorative surface on the intermediate panel. Species IV describes another embodiment of the construction member having a cavity in all three panels.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claims are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

A telephone call was made to Don Finkelstein on 5/31/2007 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

Art Unit: 3609

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Mark R. Wendell whose telephone number is (571) 270-3245. The examiner can normally be reached on Mon-Fri, 7:30AM-5PM, Alt. Fri off, EST.
